Special Educational

Information for Parents

What is SEN?

Some children find learning more challenging than others and may need extra support to achieve their full potential. For example, they might have difficulty with:

- Expressing themselves
- Interacting with others
- Reading, writing and maths
- Controlling their emotions
- Sensory or physical mobility

These difficulties can be barriers to learning. As a school we assess all children to identify their strengths and needs and how we can best support them. Children who need extra help with their learning may receive additional support under one of the following categories:

- SEN support
- An Education Health Care plan

Special Educational Needs

What is SEN support?

SEN support describes the additional help which assists children to access the curriculum. This might include:

Extra help in the classroom

One-to-one learning

Support from specialists such as speech and language therapists

If your child needs extra support we will work with you to agree what support we will provide and what it will achieve.

What are EHC plans?

If your child has more complex needs, he/she might be assessed for an Education Health Care plan which is a detailed plan setting out how your child's education, health and care needs will be met by all the agencies involved with your child.

We will use the following stages to determine the type of support best suited to each child:

High quality, differentiated teaching

For all children

Quality teaching plus extra short-term support

For children making slower progress

SEN support: additional long-term, individualised support

For children still making less progress than other children

EHC plan

For children with more complex needs

Frequently Asked Questions

How will the school decide what type of support my child receives?

We understand that every child's needs are different, and that these may change over time. We assess each child's needs closely to identify which support suits them best.

We regularly review the support your child receives to see what is working and what isn't, and we welcome your views on this too.

How do I know if my child needs SEN support?

If your child is not making expected progress for his/her age he/she may need SEN support.

Your child's key worker and our school SENCO assess each child's progress and needs closely and will always discuss this with you before placing your child on SEN support.

What if I think my child needs further support?

Please speak to the Head Teacher or the Deputy SENCO, who may recommend carrying out an EHC needs assessment.
