

Privacy notice for parents/carers

Under data protection law, individuals have a right to be informed about how the school uses any personal data that we hold about them. We comply with this right by providing 'privacy notices' (sometimes called 'fair processing notices') to individuals where we are processing their personal data.

This privacy notice explains how we collect, store and use personal data about pupils. Eastfield Nursery School are the 'data controller' for the purposes of data protection law.

The personal data we hold

Personal data that we may collect, use, store and share (when appropriate) about pupils includes, but is not restricted to:

- Parents contact details, contact preferences
- Pupils name, date of birth, unique pupil number, home address, identification documents
- Results of internal assessments including assessment records and EYFS profiles
- Pupil and curriculum records
- Attendance records
- Characteristics, such as ethnic background, language and eligibility for early years pupil premium
- Special educational needs
- Exclusion information
- Details of any medical conditions, including physical and mental health, doctors information, allergies, medication and dietary requirements
- Attendance information including number of absences, absence reasons, previous settings attended
- Safeguarding information including court orders and professional involvement
- Details of any support received, including care packages, plans and reports from support providers
- Photographs and videos including CCTV images captured in school

We may also hold data about pupils that we have received from other organisations, including other schools, local authorities including SEN services and the Department for Education.

Why we use this data

We use this data to:

- Support pupil learning
- Monitor, track and report on pupil progress
- Provide appropriate pastoral care
- Protect pupil welfare
- Assess the quality of our services

- Administer admissions waiting lists
- Carry out research
- Comply with the law regarding data sharing

Our legal basis for using this data

We only collect and use pupils' personal data when the law allows us to. Most commonly, we process it where:

- We need to comply with a legal obligation
- We need it to perform an official task in the public interest

Less commonly, we may also process pupils' personal data in situations where:

- We have obtained consent to use it in a certain way
- We need to protect the individual's vital interests (or someone else's interests)

Where we have obtained consent to use pupils' personal data, this consent can be withdrawn at any time. We will make this clear when we ask for consent, and explain how consent can be withdrawn.

Some of the reasons listed above for collecting and using pupils' personal data overlap, and there may be several grounds which justify our use of this data.

Collecting this information

While the majority of information we collect about pupils is mandatory, there is some information that can be provided voluntarily.

Whenever we seek to collect information from you or your child, we make it clear whether providing it is mandatory or optional. If it is mandatory, we will explain the possible consequences of not complying.

How we store this data

We keep personal information about pupils while they are attending our school. We may also keep it beyond their attendance at our school if this is necessary in order to comply with our legal obligations. Our Records Management Policy sets out how long we keep information about pupils. A copy of this policy is available on request.

Data sharing

We do not share information about pupils with any third party without consent unless the law and local policies allow us to do so.

Where it is legally required, or necessary (and it complies with data protection law) we share personal information with:

- Our local authority – to meet our legal obligations to share certain information with it, such as safeguarding concerns and exclusions
- The Department for Education

National Pupil Database

We are required to provide information about pupils to the Department for Education as part of statutory data collections such as the early years census.

Some of this information is then stored in the National Pupil Database (NPD), which is owned and managed by the Department and provides evidence on school performance to inform research.

The database is held electronically so it can easily be turned into statistics. The information is securely collected from a range of sources including schools and local authorities.

The Department for Education may share information from the NPD with other organisations which promote children's education or wellbeing in England. Such organisations must agree to strict terms and conditions about how they will use the data.

For more information, see the Department's webpage on how it collects and shares research data.

You can also contact the Department for Education with any further questions about the NPD.

Parents and pupils' rights regarding personal data

Individuals have a right to make a 'subject access request' to gain access to personal information that the school holds about them.

Parents/carers can make a request with respect to their child's data where the child is not considered mature enough to understand their rights over their own data (usually under the age of 12), or where the child has provided consent.

Parents also have the right to make a subject access request with respect to any personal data the school holds about them.

If you make a subject access request, and if we do hold information about you or your child, we will:

- Give you a description of it
- Tell you why we are holding and processing it, and how long we will keep it for
- Explain where we got it from, if not from you or your child
- Tell you who it has been, or will be, shared with
- Let you know whether any automated decision-making is being applied to the data, and any consequences of this
- Give you a copy of the information in an intelligible form
